

AppGuard: Gives you time!

There is a common theme flowing through all considerations of AppGuard and its benefits to any organisation engaged in protecting itself or others from the impact of Cyber Attack: TIME.

Time: Between the impact of a true zero day attack and the point at which it is recognised and the attack mitigated.

Time: To repair the havoc caused by the impact of any attack between the time of it starting its nefarious activity, and the point at which it is stopped.

Time: Appguard can give to a SOC to analyse, generate a playbook and orchestrate it, without the attack wreaking havoc in the meantime.

Time: That you do not have to expend in meeting your Recovery Time Objective (RTO) after a breach.

Time: That you may or may not have to spend in front of the C-Suite explaining the damage caused by a breach.

Time: Spent awake at night worrying about the next attack, or

Time: Spent sleeping peacefully knowing you have a real zero day, zero trust protection in place.

Time is most definitely Money!

Time gives you peace of mind.

AppGuard gives you TIME.

